

Introduction

This book is an attempt to accompany you into a new reality.

You endeavor to comprehend with your human mind.

We will try to reach you there, where your unconnected mind resides, for there you are trapped.

This is the paradox.

We want to reach you through your mind, through words, through images, through this book. But we want to lead you through words, through images, through this book, to the place of the connected spirit, to the place without words, without images.

You comprehend, you are connected, where the spirit resides.

The spirit requires no words, no images, in the sense of your definition of these terms.

The spirit is, it flows through you.

Be with yourselves and you will comprehend.

With the help of this book, these words, these images, we would like to lead you to the place where words and images are no longer required.

We endeavor to reach you.

We endeavor to soften your hardenings.

We endeavor to melt down your walls.

We endeavor to anoint your injuries.

We endeavor to enter your open hearts with love.

This book consists of words and images. We endeavor to touch you. The essence of being is found between the lines of the book, between the lines of life.

Feel free to uncreate the words and images that we send and to replace them with words and images that are more appropriate for you.

It is the essence that wants to penetrate your heart and present you with the gift of a new heart vision.

To be at home in your heart, without words, without images, between the lines of life.

Chapter 1

The Beginning and the End in the Circle of Perfection

The beginning of this book / chapter 1 can only be comprehended once you have undergone all of the experiences, respectively read the entire book. Chapter 1 serves as a mirror for chapter 9.

Oneness, the birthplace of your, our universe.

Oneness collapsed in itself and gave birth to spirit. Spirit, out of itself, gave birth to matter and became source, god. Oneness flickered; energy had built up. And so, spirit erupted and matter was created.

God only became god, when he created matter.

The spirit of god, your, our source, pours out into infinity and then collapses back into itself again. A wave of release is followed by the wave of return into the spirit of god, further into Oneness, followed by the wave of release, followed by the wave of return into the spirit of god, further into Oneness.

Expression is born and expression dies.

Oneness remains, from eternity to eternity. Amen.

Birth and death are processes of expression, not of being. Being is. Being is without process. Being is.

Oneness penetrates all universes with its energy. Oneness is all universes.

The spirit finds its expression in the infinity of all universes.

Oneness is.

States of being are personified by you. But they are only states. The state god, your, our source, is also subject to the tides. The tides of god, the falling tide and the rising tide, determine the waves that are supplied to every being. They are waves of the source, waves of god.

The release of the spirit, of matter, is the birth of god. God became a being in the phase of the rising tide. A being consists of energies with defined states, born into infinity. High tide is the hour of birth. Ebb tide is the hour of death.

In the ebb tide of energy, the spirit of god collapses into Oneness. In the collapse, the spirit is reborn. Then, in the wave of the rising tide, the spirit creates matter again and thus resurrects god's being. The rising tide of the spirit is to be recognized as the birth of god.

Oneness is absent of definition and yet it is everything.

The flow of life flows with the waves of the energies. Feel the waves of the energies, it will bring healing into matter. Yes, everything is energy. But in the stream of energies there exist various different forms of energy. Energies penetrate and energies circumvent. They are in abundance and at a minimum. The higher the consciousness, the more energies can be at your disposal in your authentic basic energy. He, who senses them and immerses himself in them, can make use of them for his own benefit. Such being flows with the stream without resistance. Every being is subject to the tides, for you are born from the spirit of god.

You are an expression of the spirit, born from Oneness. You are Oneness. Oneness, in the emptiness, which is neither emptiness nor Oneness, which is a nothingness and yet everything, that is you, that is us, that is infinite.

Choose, define yourselves by what you are, but know that this, you are not. You are nothing, and yet everything in the infinite dance of life. Life is. It is, even if you are not capable of seeing it, hearing it or speaking it. Your perception does not create life. You exist, even without your observer, your critic, your avoider, your conscious self, your appraiser.

Do not attempt to grasp who you are. Be. Flow from within yourselves. Open your doors and let the energies that wish to flow through you, flow through you. This is how you awaken in your own authenticity. Be. Flow with your being. This is where the fulfilment of your being lies.

Fear not, for it already is, and it will always be. Do not try to become who you are, for you are. You are and always will be. Forever. Amen.

All that is given to you in this book, are tools. Tools, in order to show you a path to be the simplicity of being.

Use the tools that appeal to you. They are tools, they are concepts. Concepts are ways to reach you where you are. Know that they are concepts, do not identify yourselves with these concepts, for they are concepts on your path of being.

Even the path as such does not exist, it is created in the dimension time and it is a concept. Go with it, with the knowledge thereof. Be in yourselves. Dwell in yourselves and let Oneness be. Enter into the being of Oneness.

Your serenity is a true virtue. For here you will find relief from identifications, relief from attachments to systems of beings, the detachment from value systems. For systems are also concepts. Make use of concepts, make use of systems and remain connected with the being. Stay open in your awareness. Even this book is a concept. These are words of expression. Words, with which you begin to identify yourselves. Let the energies of the words flow through you, swim in them, let them have an effect, but do not be imprisoned by this expression. They are words of the expression of god and not Oneness.

Oneness in itself, is.

You are, we are, everything is expression in infinity. So understand, everything is an expression of the spirit. Oneness is.

Even the separation from Oneness and the separation from the expression of the spirit cannot express Oneness, for there is no separation. So understand, there is no word to describe Oneness. Oneness is.

Immerse yourselves, let your ego die and be.

In the abundance of being you will find emptiness and in emptiness you will find the abundance of all being. Everything is and always will be. Step inside the flow of expression and know that it is the expression.

Linger, and be in Oneness.

Beings who let their spirit, their expression, flow freely into matter, who let their energies flow freely, become god. Creation through the spirit, from the spirit into matter, is what you refer to as god. God is the process of creation by way of the matrix: focused thought, word and deed.

When the spirit is born into matter, it carries the knowledge, the truth in itself. Through it, the light flows into the density of matter. The pure spirit is a funnel, it compresses the light into matter. The spirit begins to form what wants to be formed. If you perceive yourselves on the spirit plane (SpP), observe the process of the funnel. Do not identify yourselves with the process of the funnel, for the spirit is an expression and not Oneness. So take a look, even on the spirit plane (SpP) of your being, the possibility of attachment still exists. This possibility exists all the way up to your, our universal divine source, it further continues up to Oneness.

Energies are formed. The formation of energies creates expression. Energies create, they express, they form on all planes. It is also considered attachment, if you identify yourselves with one of these planes and/or levels. So see, your expression takes place on the matter plane (MP), on the spirit plane (SpP) and on the soul plane (SoP). Even all planes all the way up to the universal source, to the spirit of god, are an expression of what is.

Do not identify with expression. Be Oneness.

Oneness is the primary unit in emptiness, in nothingness, in the dissolution of expression. Oneness is the primary unit, the undefinition of all being.
