Contents

Preface 9

Forword 11

Chater I 13

1.0 Introduction: The Conclusion of Utopia: What Persisted was Imitation, an Ideology of Illusion 13

2.0 Having and Not-Having ("Having or Being"; -Haben und Sein- according to Erich Fromm) 17

2.1 The "Being" 18

2.2 "Have" 18

3.0 The "Insanity" 19

3.1 Collapse of culture, as well as the moral tradition and ethical reason, through the replacement of the capacity for thought by material greed: 21

4.0 Ethics and Morality 23

4.1 What is Ethic 23

4.2 What is morality 24

4.3 What is ethics in contemporary society, which identifies itself as "civilisation"? 25

4.4 Culture and Civilization 27

4.5 Civilisation inherently entails conquests and colonisation 29

4.6 Is hybrid culture possible? 33

Chapter II 38

1.0 Imitation/mimicry of an Illusionary Promise from the Concept of Independence: An Illusionary Policy Doomed to Failure 38

1.1 The mimicry/imitation of an illusory ideology: A utopia governed by monopolistic interests has ultimately revealed itself to be a mere illusion 42

1.2 The liberation struggle for independence was a struggle of means to an end (a farce!) 49

1.3 Summary 51

Chapter III 53

1.0 The impetus for destruction will no longer perturb them, and the chasm, even the abyss of human existence, is integral to quotidian living 53

1.1 In what ways did Somali citizens endure and navigate the harsh realities of the civil conflict with their families? 54

1.2 The detrimental ethical implications of Western colonialism, characterised by the replication of their illusory ideologies, have profoundly undermined African societies 55

1.3 Greed drives people through their unscrupulous urge for "power, money, lies, and sex" as self-assertion 56

1.4 An illusion of one's own existing real sovereignty destroyed, the will of a power that should obey one's own interest and one's own profile of glory, for it ultimately led to collective self-destruction 59

Chapter IV 60

1.1 Is it evident that bailout package and development aid create bad governance? 67

2.0 Somalia: condemning autonomous utopia: a significant reproduction of a prescribed deceptive ideology 72

2.1 A succinct analysis and brief overview of the Somali oil and gas sector as a tool for blackmail to maintain Somalia's instability and permanent ungovernability 79

2.2 What were the origins and what was the significance of Operation Restore Hope in Somalia Operation "Restore-Hop" 80

2.3 Oil Accord between Somalia and Turkey 80

2.4 America versus Tukey on Somalia' issue 81

2.5 USAID: the extensive influence of the CIA and other Western development assistance; or NGOs as guardians and restricting mechanisms against any efforts by the Somali government to establish the rule of law: the denial of sovereignty 82

3.0 The military bases in the Horn of Africa serves as monitoring and control stations 84

3.1 The military installation in Djibouti illustrates the significance of regional geopolitics in the current Middle Eastern conflict: Houthis versus the West 84

3.2 The Empire o 85

3.3 Djibouti and the U 85

3.4 What distinguishes Djibouti from its neighbours in the region? 86

3.5 China and Djibouti 89

3.6 Doraleh/Djibouti Port and the Chinese Military Presence in Djibouti 93

4.0 Introduction: Is Ethiopia a Constructed Myth? 97

4.1 The End of the Ethiopian Utopia 99

4.2 The basic, secondary, and tertiary manifestations of the assimilation policy in Abyssinia: Acceptable Integration 100

4.2.1 Tolerable Integration 100

4.2.2 Fully assimilated, however deteriorated 101

4.2.3 Assimilated, but segregated 102

4.2.4 The four and five categories are either entirely assimilated or have been extinct; alternatively, the few that persist have been diminished to folkloric performances for visitors 103

4.2.5 A marginalised and subjugated nation 104

5.0 The contradictory conflicts and discords between the Somali people under the Ethiopian administration and the government of Ethiopia 105

5.1 The psychological barriers propelling Ethiopia into collapse are substantial 106

5.2 The self-satisfaction of the illusory ideology of Ethiopianism 108

5.3 "The fundamental rationale of this disruption is the apology of the negative" 109
6.0 To understand the conflicts in Ethiopia, we need to examine three main ideas 111
6.1 The three forces driving Ethiopia towards a precipice: Struggle for dominance 112
6.1.1 Chronicle of Coup versus Coup: Power Struggle between the Abyssinians and Highlanders 113
6.1.2 The power struggle between Empress Zewditu and Ras Taferi Mekonen escalated 114
7.0 Declaration of War 115
7.1 On November 28, 2020, the Prime Minister of Ethiopia initiated a military operation against the Tigray population 117
7.2 The new war with the Amhara, which Abiy has launched arbitrarily: The war of ideologies and ethnical hegemonic power that Abiy intended to pervert into racial Cushitic contra Semitic 117
7.3 Annotation 118
7.4 Perilous and Reckless Strategies of Abiy 118
Chapter V 120
1.0 What does development policy or development aid stand for? How is development or underdevelopment defined? 120
2.0 The damned Utopia: Odysseus ended up in a devilish abyss before reaching the promised Europe. The utopian hope and the fairy tales promising a dignified life turned out to be a hopeless illusion 123
2.1 The reciprocal interests of the domination of nature by capitalist Western countries and the unlimited plunder and corruption of the indigenous people in the so-called developing countries 123
2.2 Inherited Plutocracy: Did Imitation of Ideologies Really Decline? 124
2.3 A utopia that is not a utopia: an illusion? 126
Chapter VI 129
1.0 The Ideal State as posited by Plato: Politeia? 129
1.1 If brutal representations taint Plato's conception of the state, is it still possible to discern an ideal state? 129
Conclusion 132
1.0 What follows next 132
Bibliography 134